Program

INTRODUCTION

The plan to create a European Jewish Heritage arose several years ago in Strasbourg.
Our goal is to show the different aspects and rich diversity of the "European Jewish Cultural Heritage", along with the way the structure of the Jewish culture is intertwined in our social system through schools and synagogues.

The province of Antwerp is a classic example along the European Route of Jewish Heritage. Across the country Jewish citizens are involved in the artistic, cultural and economic life, while simultaneously remaining faithful to their Jewish laws.

Together with the help of the province of Antwerp, B'nai B'rith is very pleased to share the most important and most valuable events of our heritage with our future guests.

Museum Concept

The Red Star Line Museum sales with the flag "People on the Move". This concept extends the horizon of the historic Red Star Line-story to the modern and contemporary migration in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

A committee of American and Belgian academics worked on the substantive concept of the Red Star Line Museum. Hence the motto: People on the Move.

Main Exhibition

Central to the main exhibition are the stories of 2.6 million Red Star Line passengers. They came from everywhere by train to Antwerp, mostly from Eastern Europe, to travel to America.
In the Red Star Line Museum you literally enter in the footsteps of the emigrants.
As a visitor you are traveling with them.

Born in Antwerp Belgium) on November 27, 1946, her parents having returned from London (UK) where they spent the WWII years.

She grew up in an open minded orthodox Jewish family who rebuilt Jewish Antwerp after the war. She attended a municipality school girls learned together,where Jewish, Christians and atheist girls learned together,without any problems.

In the last 25 years she has been trying to explain Judaism to non-Jews. In schools, universities, schools for nurses, to civil servants such as Antwerp police,several professional associations, teachers etc.

Doing so, she built a network of contacts with representatives of various religions.

In the last twelve years she has held the position of Chair of the Interfaith Intercultural Committee of ICJW (International Council of Jewish Women). As such she is ICJW's delegate to World Religion of Peace where she also holds the position of Jewish partner of the European Network of Women of Faith.

The Foundation for Ethnic Understanding asked her to promote the Twining week end between Jewish and Muslim Women, she is their co-founder.

Her objectives are: - promoting dialogue between all persons ,-fighting discrimination against any person because of his/her skin color, faith or gender.
